Instructions

General instructions

Use this form to figure your New York adjustments for New York depreciation and federal ACRS depreciation for property placed in service inside or outside New York State in tax years beginning after December 31, 1980, but before January 1, 1985, and if you elect to continue using IRC section 167 depreciation for property placed in service outside New York State in tax years beginning after December 31, 1984 but before January 1, 1994.

New York State does not allow the federal accelerated cost recovery system depreciation deduction (ACRS) for property (except for property classified as Internal Revenue Code (IRC) section 280F property) placed in service inside or outside New York State during tax years 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984, and fiscal years beginning in 1984. You must figure your New York depreciation by using one of the methods provided for in IRC section 167 as it was in effect on December 31, 1980 (for example, straight line or declining balance). The deduction for New York depreciation may be taken until the property is fully depreciated or disposed of.

For property (except for property classified as IRC section 280F property) placed in service outside New York State for tax years beginning after 1984, but before 1994, New York did not allow ACRS or MACRS depreciation under IRC section 168. Instead, New York allowed the depreciation deduction that would have been allowed under IRC section 167 as it was in effect on December 31, 1980.

However, as a result of a court decision (Reynolds), if you claimed ACRS depreciation on your federal return for property not classified as IRC section 280F property and that property was placed in service outside New York State in tax years beginning after December 31, 1984, but before January 1, 1994 (including property on which ACRS depreciation was figured in accordance with the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986), you may continue using the pre-1981 IRC section 167 depreciation on that property, making the applicable depreciation addition and subtraction, or choose to switch to the IRC section 168 depreciation deduction.

A taxpayer choosing to switch to the IRC section 168 depreciation deduction is no longer required to make the New York depreciation addition and subtraction adjustments. If you switch to IRC section 168 depreciation, you must use IRC section 168 depreciation from this tax year forward, and must use it for all of your subject property. For more information concerning this property, see TSB-M-99(1)I. This TSB-M is available on the Tax Department Web site at: www.nystax.gov

If you claimed ACRS depreciation on your federal return for property placed in service during tax years 1981 through 1984 and fiscal tax years beginning in 1984 (for other than IRC section 280F property), or property placed in service outside New York State during tax years 1985 through 1993 and fiscal tax years beginning in 1993 (for other than IRC section 280F property), and you elect to continue using IRC section 167 depreciation, complete Part I.

If you have an interest in a passive activity, the modifications required under Tax Law sections 612(b)(25) and (c)(26) for ACRS depreciation and New York depreciation must be made for the full amounts allowable as a federal depreciation deduction (100%), even though the activity may be subject to federal loss deduction limitations. It is only under IRC section 469 (Passive Activity Losses and Credits Limited) that there is a limitation on passive loss deductions.

In the case of a partnership using ACRS to determine depreciation, the individual partners will make the adjustments to income on their personal income tax returns. The adjustments for partners will be their distributive share of New York depreciation and federal ACRS depreciation determined by the partnership as of the end of the partnership year ending within the partner's tax year. Form IT-399 will be completed only by the partnership, and not by each individual partner. This treatment will be the same for a beneficiary of an estate or trust that is on a fiscal-year basis.

If you are a shareholder of an electing New York State S corporation, your proportionate share of the S corporation's depreciation deduction will be provided to you by the S corporation.

If you are a nonresident or part-year resident, you must complete Form IT-399 as if you were a New York State resident for the entire year. Transfer the amounts from Part I and Part II to Form IT-203, Nonresident and Part-Year Resident Income Tax Return. For more information on the addition and subtraction modifications for ACRS and New York State depreciation, see the instructions for Form IT-203 (Form IT-203-I).

If you are married and file a joint federal return but are required to file separate New York returns, complete only one Form IT-399 showing the amounts from your joint federal return. Attach a schedule to each return showing each spouse's separate amounts, as if separate federal returns were filed, and explain any differences.

New for 2003: As a result of new legislation in 2003, New York State will not recognize federal depreciation deductions for IRC section 168(k) property (except resurgence zone property, and New York liberty zone property described in IRC section 1400L(b)(2)) placed in service inside or outside New York State beginning on or after June 1, 2003. For more information, see Form IT-398, New York State Depreciation Schedule for IRC Section 168(k) Property.

Specific instructions

Enter your name and identifying number (your social security number or employer identification number) in the spaces provided on the front of this form. Check the box that indicates which New York State income tax return you are filing and attach this form to that return.

If you use a delivery service other than the U.S. Postal Service, see Private delivery services in the instructions for the return you are filing.

Part I — Depreciation

Depreciation is the annual deduction allowed to recover the cost or other basis of business or investment property having a useful life substantially beyond the tax year. Land is never depreciable. Depreciation starts when you first use the property in your business or for the production of income. It ends when you take the property out of service, deduct all of your depreciable cost or other basis, or no longer use the property in your business or for the production of income. (See Part II for the deduction to be taken in the year you dispose of the property.)

Column C — Enter the depreciable basis of the assets you place in service in the same year. Depreciable basis is the cost or other basis reduced by the part of the basis you elected to amortize or expense under IRC section 179 and any federal investment credit subtracted in figuring the federal unadjusted basis of the asset.

Column D — Enter the depreciation method you elect. You must use a method that is allowed under IRC section 167, as it was in effect on December 31, 1980.

Column E — Enter the useful life of the property. You cannot use the ACRS recovery period in figuring your New York State depreciation. You must use the useful life or rate provided for in IRC section 167. In some cases the useful life under IRC section 167 may be the same as the recovery period.

Column F — Enter your New York depreciation deduction in column F, based on the method you elected in column D.

Column G — Enter the ACRS deduction you took on your federal return.

Part II — Year-of-disposition adjustment

If you dispose of property (except for IRC section 280F property) that you placed in service inside or outside New York State after December 31, 1980, but before January 1, 1985, or property placed in service outside New York State after December 31, 1984, but before January 1, 1994, you must adjust your New York State income by the difference between the total New York depreciation deduction and the total federal ACRS deduction claimed on that property. If you elected to switch to IRC section 168 depreciation for property placed in service outside New York State in tax years beginning after December 31, 1984, but before January 1, 1994, in the year of disposition, the adjustment should take into account only those years prior to switching to IRC section 168.

Column C — Enter the method used to dispose of the property. Disposition includes, but is not limited to, sale, exchange, transfer, and obsolescence.

Column D — Enter the total New York depreciation you claimed on the disposition of your property. If the property was placed in service during 1981, do not include the amount of ACRS depreciation claimed for the property on your 1981 New York State return.

Column E — Enter the total federal ACRS deduction you claimed on your federal return for the disposition of your property. If the property was placed in service during 1981, do not include the amount of ACRS depreciation claimed for the property on your 1981 federal return.
