Instructions

Who may file Form ET-133

The executor who is required to file the estate tax return for the decedent's estate may file Form ET-133 to request an automatic extension of time to file or to apply for an extension of time to pay the estate tax, or both, under section 976 of the Tax Law. Enter the name (last name first) and other information for the executor of the estate. The term executor includes executrix, administrator, administratrix, or personal representative of the decedent's estate; if no executor is appointed, qualified, and acting within the United States, executor means any person in actual or constructive possession of any property of the decedent. Also, an authorized attorney, certified public accountant, or other person holding power of attorney (POA) may use this form to apply for an extension of time on behalf of the executor.

Note: If you are giving a person power of attorney to represent you, attach a completed Form ET-14, Estate Tax Power of Attorney, if one was not submitted previously. Refer to the instructions on Form ET-14 for additional information.

If you have not previously submitted a copy of the death certificate, mark an X in the box and attach a copy to this form.

If Letters Testamentary or Letters of Administration have been obtained from surrogate's court but not submitted, attach a copy of them to this form and indicate in the space provided the type of letters you are submitting.

If the estate has more than one executor, mark an X in the box, enter the name and other information for the primary executor (preferably a person residing in New York State) in the area provided, and attach a list of each of the other executors with their mailing address and social security number.

If this application is signed by the authorized representative of the executor, enter the information for that person (attorney, CPA, or person with POA) in the area indicated for attorney or authorized representative.

Note: If an executor has not been appointed, this application may be signed by a person acting as executor who has sufficient knowledge of the estate to file an accurate return. The information (name, address, etc.) for the person acting as executor should be entered in the area provided for the executor. If the application is signed by the authorized representative of a person acting as executor, refer to the information above.

When to file

• Extension of time to file (Tax Law section 976(a)(1))

You must file Form ET-133 within 9 months of the date of death. If there is no numerically corresponding day in the ninth month, the last day of the ninth month is the due date. When the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, the due date is the next weekday that is not a legal holiday.

Note: The extension of time to file an estate tax return may not exceed six months unless the executor is out of the country.

An extension of time to file does not extend the time to pay.

Therefore, if the application is for an extension of time to file only, you must show the amount of the estate tax estimated to be due and include a check or money order payable in U.S. funds to the Commissioner of Taxation and Finance with the application (if not previously paid). Write the decedent's social security number and Estate tax on the check or money order.

• Extension of time to pay (Tax Law section 976(a))

Note: An extension of time to pay does not extend the time to file.

You must file the return within nine months after the date of death, unless an extension of time to file has been granted.

You must provide details regarding why an extension of time to pay is needed. Except as provided below, an extension of time to pay cannot exceed 12 months from the due date of the estate tax return.

You may extend the payment of the estate tax attributable to a reversionary or remainder interest in property until six months after the termination of the precedent interest(s) in the property.

To avoid penalties if the Tax Department denies your application for an extension of time to pay, you should file your application early enough so that the Tax Department can review the application and reply before the estate tax and return are due. We will notify you in writing of the Tax Department's decision. If we approve your application for an extension of time to pay, you must pay the tax by the extended due date.

A discretionary extension of time to pay for undue hardship under section 976(a)(3) may not exceed four years. For information on an extension of time granted to a closely held business under section 997, see Form ET-415, Application for Deferred Payment of Estate Tax.

The application must establish that it is an undue hardship for the executor to pay the full amount of the estate tax by the estate tax return due date

(nine months after the date of death). You must document any effort the estate has made to convert assets to pay the tax. Include information on the listing of real estate, loans, marketability of securities, and so forth.

In general, an extension of time to pay will be granted only for the amount of the cash shortage. You must show the amount of the estate tax (attach a copy of the return if it has already been filed; otherwise estimate the tax), the amount of the cash shortage (including a statement of the current assets in the estate and the assets already distributed), a plan for partial payments during the extension period, and the balance due. You must attach a check or money order payable in U.S. funds to the Commissioner of Taxation and Finance for the balance due. Write the decedent's social security number and Estate tax on the check or money order.

You must pay the part of the estate tax, including the accrued interest, for which the extension of time is granted by the extended due date. If you pay within this period, interest is computed from the date that is nine months after the date of death to the date of payment.
